JETSON ROGUE HOVERBOARDS IGNITE; CPSC SECURES STRONG RECALL REMEDY TO GET THESE DEADLY PRODUCTS OUT OF HOMES

MARCH 30, 2023

On April 1, 2022, two sisters, aged 10 and 15, died in a house fire that, the Fire Marshal determined, was caused by their Jetson Rogue hoverboard igniting.

This product is too dangerous to be in homes. CPSC has secured a strong recall remedy designed to get Jetson Rogue hoverboards away from consumers as quickly as possible.

If you or someone you know owns a Jetson Rogue hoverboard, take a photo of the product and send it to the company for a full refund—or simply bring the hoverboard to a Target store. No receipt is required. All recalls should be this simple and easy to access.
